15 {Untypical} Questions to Verify Your Purpose in 2015

Take time to answer these questions. Answer them today. Answer them next week. Answer them in six months.

1) If I had a magic eraser, what is one thing I'd take off my schedule tomorrow? (We don't have the time to live our purpose if our time is filled with unimportant things.)

2) How do I want my children to describe our family to their friends when they are teenagers? (We need to establish purposeful routines now to become the family we want to be.)

3) What's one thing has God asked me to do that I'm too scared to try? (God won't do "the next big thing" unless you trust Him with the "first little thing.")

4) How can I help my husband support his purpose? (My life and marriage isn't all about me. Working together helps me find my unique purpose and helps us discover our purpose together.)

5) Where did I find my greatest joy as a child? (God plants seeds of purpose inside us.)

6) How does my childhood joy point to my life purpose today?

7) What are the themes of my three favorite movies? (I bet the themes are tied to your purpose.)

8) What unique group of people do I feel called to share the good news of Jesus with in everyday life? (We're missing our true purpose if we're the only one who's benefiting. We are created to be interconnected with the needy world.)

9) What can God do that I can't concerning my purpose? (This is where the faith comes in.)

10) How is God glorified when I'm following my purpose?

11) What is one way that following my purpose will teach my children about their purpose? (Kids do what we do, not what we say.)

12) Who can I lean on to support my purpose?

13) How can I reach out to support a friend's purpose?

14) How will following my purpose force me to trust God more?

15) What is God asking me to do TODAY?
